

Lecture and Panel Discussion

Housing Construction in Ukraine in Times of Multiple Crises

Tue, July 7 th, 6 pm

Architekturschaufenster
Waldstraße 8, 76133 Karlsruhe

<https://kit-lecture.zoom-x.de/j/62117912949?pwd=zekQi9C9WEzUfK9cmv-85PalzDVZcJc.1>

Meeting-ID: 621 1791 2949 Kenncode: bK1?1Du@

Admission free. Registration required
(via E-Mail: info@cnutr.com)

Housing for Eldely in Kherson. Image by Martin Duplantier Architectes, 2025

Destroyed housing in Borodyanka, Kyiv Region.
Photo by Andrii Shtendera, 2024

Russia's full-scale invasion of Ukraine, launched in February 2022, has precipitated one of the most severe urban housing crises in post-war European history. With over 236,000 buildings damaged or destroyed—representing approximately 9% of the national housing stock—and more than 3.5 million internally displaced persons (IDPs) competing for accommodation in an under-regulated rental market, the structural inadequacy of Ukraine's social housing system has been laid bare.

Andrii Shtendera, architect and urban planner from Lviv will offer insights into the evolution of socially-oriented housing in Ukraine, bridging government management, the current state of the housing stock, and the role of both retrofitting and new construction in the development of social housing in Ukraine.

Panel Discussion with Andrii Shtendera, Bohdan Cherkes (Lviv), Marina Kramarenko (Odesa), Ihor Nadkernychnyi (Vinnytsia) and Haris Piplas (Zurich).

